

Brad Lenz

Vice President, Land Development

Since 2014

Mr. Lenz has direct responsibility for the identification and assessment of acquisition opportunities, as well as the management of the entitlement and development activities for the company's land assets.

Experience

Mr. Lenz has been actively involved in the Colorado development industry for over fifteen years, including work as a civil engineer, leading the land department for a top-ten national homebuilder, and operating a private development, consulting, and general contracting company. He has directly overseen the development of thousands of residential lots within dozens of successful projects throughout the Front Range of Colorado.

Education

He received a B.S. in Civil Engineering from the University of Wyoming, and an M.B.A from the University of Colorado, with emphasis in Finance and Real Estate.
